Signing Naturally
Unit 2 Study Guide

Unit 2.1
Lesson: Giving Information about Yourself

Yes/No Questions:

- raise brows throughout the question
- lean head forward with the last sign
- hold the last sign until your listener starts to answer

Affirm – nodding just before responding
Negate – shaking the head just before responding

The listener has an active role in the rhythm of the conversation. In the absence of feedback, signers may assume you do not understand and may repeat information. Make your active listening visual by acknowledging information as you process it.

Phrases in ASL when giving information about yourself:
hearing/deaf?
[LANGUAGE] I learn/teach
student/teacher?
[LANGUAGE] I learn/teach [point at] (school)
[LANGUAGE] I learn/teach here DHS

Cultural: Within Deaf community, Deaf people strengthen social bonds by participating in various community activities such as sports clubs, conferences, and other social events.

Gallaudet University is the only Deaf university in the world located in Washington, D.C. President Abraham Lincoln signed an act to establish the school in 1864. The liberal arts university offers over 80 undergraduate and graduate degrees. They also have two demonstration schools and six regional centers that serve Deaf students throughout the United States. Gallaudet University also accepts a certain number of hearing undergraduate and graduate students.

ASL Structure: One-handed signs are when you use your dominant hand for words signed with one hand (ex: de, black, man, woman, ...). Two-handed, symmetrical signs are when you use both of your hands in symmetrical movements (ex: teacher, play, game, ...). Two-handed, non-symmetrical signs are when your dominant hand moves while the non-dominant hand remains stationary for some signs (ex: learning, running, date, ...).

Unit 2.2

With the palms faced inside, twist the palms so it faces out to make the second number 6, 7, 8, or 9.
